Episode 2 — "Daniel's Bonus" (brief)

Lesson: pay yourself first — when money arrives, set aside savings before spending.

Story: Daniel gets his year-end bonus and has already planned a new phone and a trip. Rachel, now calm with her rainy-day fund, shows him Ah Ma's blue tin idea in a café. Daniel splits the bonus on the spot: rainy-day fund top-up first, a goal for the trip, then the rest to enjoy. Final shot: Daniel puts a small tin of his own on his desk.

New character: Daniel Lim, 30 — short side-parted hair, navy polo shirt, silver wireless earbuds, restless energy.

Format: YouTube Shorts, 45 s, 9:16, four shots, same characters and style as Episode 1, captions on.

Call to action: "When money comes in, pay yourself first."

End card: call to action + "For general education only. Not financial advice."

Must avoid: product names, percentages, promised returns.
